

You may already be registered for or are considering attending one of our live CME courses, and we wanted to keep you informed about our preventive actions in regards to COVID-19:

We expect all our CME activities to continue as planned.

For your convenience, we are adding live webcast to many upcoming events.

The health and safety of all participants at our CME courses – including attendees, keynote speakers, faculty, staff, and others involved in the meeting – is a top priority.

We will be taking all necessary and recommended precautions to ensure the health and safety of attendees at the meeting.

To help prevent the spread of viruses during our live CME Activities, please:

- If you are not feeling well attend via Live Webcast.
- Minimize personal contact – no handshaking necessary!
- Cover your coughs and sneezes with a tissue, then throw the tissue in the trash.
- Avoid touching your eyes, nose and mouth with unwashed hands.

We will keep you current on any potential impact on our live CME program with enhanced communication around the coronavirus via our CME Portal, and/or email communications.

If you have any questions, please feel free to reach out to us at CME@BaptistHealth.net.

Coronavirus Educational Resource

Additionally, we wanted to make sure that you were aware of the Coronaviruses accredited continuing education (CME/CE) activity and additional resources that can help the CE provider and clinician community to respond to the novel coronavirus public health emergency.
